

Library Volunteers

You can Make a Difference

This offers people the chance to make a positive difference in their local communities. Trained volunteers of all abilities can gain valuable experience, learn new skills and meet people of all ages.

We already have a great team of over 20 plus library volunteers, we are always keen to recruit more.

Volunteering can be as much or as little as you wish to offer:

- Some volunteers regularly donate a few hours of their time on an agreed day and time slot.
- Others step in when needed on an occasional basis.

There's a range of roles you can play – all of which you will receive training for from Kirklees Library Services

Volunteering to help with general library duties- This role is to help people visiting the library and assist with the library routines to maintain an effective service in a pleasant environment.

Together our library volunteers have grown into a great team who also meet socially.

How to apply at the Library - Once you have expressed an interest in becoming a volunteer and filled in a registration form, you will be contacted. We will meet you to discuss the role in more detail. We will ask you to give details of one person (not a relative) we can contact for a character reference.
